Tips for Artists

Use chalk sparingly. Build up your layers, starting with a very light layers on the bottom. Some artists prefer to lay all their undertones first. Some prefer to work top to bottom. We recommend outlining your elements first.

A big chalk board eraser works great for laying our large areas of color. Moving the eraser in a circular motion works best.

If you a first-time chalk artist, consider using one object as your focal point for your artwork like a face or an animal. Some details are difficult to manage on a rough surface so think big and bold. The more you work with chalk on rough surfaces the more comfortable you'll be.
